Dean's Corner
by Bill Heller

Slogans, part two

Can't say our slogan campaign was a success; only three people responded. However, "There's class in St. Pete" won by a two-to-one margin. The third person submitted three other slogans: "Be smart and go to USF St. Pete"; "It's cool to go to school at USF St. Pete"; and "Be ahead of the rest and go to USF St. Pete."

Due to the underwhelming response, I'm going to extend the survey another month in hopes that more people will participate. I'd like to get a true reading of what most faculty and staff think about this matter.

I hope to hear from you soon.

Faculty/Staff Notes

James Fellows, professor of taxation, published "Taxing the Middle Class" in the October issue of Taxes.

Jerry Lander, professor of accountancy, and Hamilton Stirling, lecturer of business administration, presented "An Evaluative Model of Post-Employment Benefits" at the international meeting of the North American Economic and Finance Association's Eighth Annual Congress in Montego Bay on Aug. 6.

Jackie Jasiota, admissions/registration officer, won the local, district and state Young Careerist competition sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Association. She will next compete at the national level in St. Louis in June 1994. The competition fosters professional growth for women between the ages of 21 and 35.

The Toom County Mud Race, by Herb Karl, professor of English education, was one of the authors recognized by the American Library Association as a "Recommended Book for the Reluctant Young Reader." This category focuses on books appropriate for the teenager who, for whatever reason, claims to dislike reading.

Darryl Paulson, associate professor of government and international affairs, was interviewed about St. Petersburg's strong mayor form of government for Governing magazine. His comments appeared in the July issue.

Danny Jorgensen, professor of religious studies, was appointed 1994 program chairman of the John Whitmer Historical Association. He also published "The Scattered Saints of Southwestern Iowa: Cutlerite-Josephite Conflict and Rivalry, 1855-1865" in a recent edition of the association's journal.

Stephen Micklo, assistant professor of education, presented "Developing Classification and Logical Thinking Skills" in Orlando at the Oct. 2 annual meeting of the Florida Association on Children Under Six.

- Campaigning for the presidency
USF St. Petersburg will host meetings for each of the five finalists for USF president this month. Each candidate will spend the mornings on campus to meet with various groups. The dates have not yet been finalized, but here's a tentative schedule for each session:

8-9 a.m.	Students/Alumni
9-9:30 a.m.	Campus Tour
9:30-10:30	Faculty Forum
10:30-11:30	Staff Forum
11:30-1 p.m.	Community Forum

● Hail to the USPS

St. Petersburg campus staffers who excel in their work will be recognized through a new program being established for USPS personnel.

The "Excellence in Service" awards program will recognize up to three staffers each year who consistently take pride in their work by maintaining a high level of job performance. The award consists of $250, an engraved plaque and a letter of recognition.

Only USPS employees who work at least 50 percent FTE are eligible and each selection will be made in consultation with Bill Heller.

All nominations and letters of endorsement must be submitted by Dec. 1 to Dean Heller's office. Winners will be announced in February.

● Advancing advancement

The areas of Public Affairs and Development and Alumni Affairs have been merged into one new Division of Advancement. Julie Gillespie is now director of advancement and Deborah Kurelik is associate director of advancement for media relations and publications.

Lisa Wharton has joined the department on a half-time basis as assistant director of advancement for alumni affairs and special events. Donna Knudson continues as administrative assistant for advancement. A search is underway for a vice president of advancement and Julie serves on that search committee. Pass along any recommendations for candidates for this position to Julie (3456).

● New kids on the block

The campus welcomes new employees Florence Whelan, senior secretary in Activities and Recreation; Joneen Maczisz, office manager in Student Affairs; Phyllis Webb, clerk typist in Financial Aid; and Mary Wright, senior secretary in the Career and Counseling Center.

● Historic house for sale

No, it's not our own Perry Snell home. It's a 1915 "Florida Cracker House" in Roser Park historic district. The Green Bench Development Group, a non-profit community group, is selling the two bedroom, one bath house for $45,900. The price includes the cost of renovation. Call Sharon Wadsworth at 898-1888 for more information.

Don't miss these events!
