Vocational Interest Testing

Vocational interest testing is available for students needing assistance in defining their preferences in relation to various fields of work. This test won't tell you what field to enter, but it will tell you how your likes and dislikes relate to those who are happy in specific kinds of positions and occupations. See Fran Seagrave, B-113B or Russ Burr, B-1152.

PLACEMENT OFFICE

The Placement Office has video tapes available for viewing on request. These tapes offer information concerning the kinds of positions offered by specific companies and the types of information recruiters seek about potential employees. At present, there are approximately 20 company tapes available. Watching some of these can be informative if you are planning to interview this year. Fran Seagrave, B-113B will arrange for your viewings.

On Monday, November 15th, the University of South Florida will host a symposium on "Minority Rights and Reverse Discrimination." Educators, public officials, and community leaders will discuss how far governments should and can go in extending opportunities to members of groups that have suffered from racial or sexual discrimination in the past.

The conference will begin at 10:00 A.M. with a panel on setting hiring quotas in employment. Among the speakers will be State Representative Dennis McDonald (R), an opponent of affirmative action plans, and Rose Washington, a special assistant for minority affairs at USF and a supporter of mandatory equalization programs.

At 1:30 P.M. State Senator Richard Deeb (R) will discuss the busing controversy with Pinellas County Superintendent of Schools, Gus Sakkis. Deeb and Sakkis have differed over educational policy previously.

At 3:30 P.M. Morris Milton, head of the Pinellas County NAACP, and Jeanne K. Nelson, Pinellas County Supervisor of Elections, will discuss voter registration. For several years Milton has criticized Nelson's management of voter registration in St. Petersburg's black community.

Also addressing the conference will be Marvin Wall, publicity director of the United States Commission on Civil Rights, who is travelling from Washington D.C. in order to attend. In addition, several USF faculty and a Stetson Law School dean will provide their comments.

All panels will be held in the Auditorium of USF's St. Petersburg Campus, 830 1st Street South. Admission is free and the public is invited.

For further information, contact Dr. Darryl Paulson or Dr. Steven Lawson, coordinators of the program, at 898-7411.

The purpose of this countywide organization is to preserve the heritage of Pinellas County. It will also aid in the preservation and recovery of artifact and documents. The society will seek to fulfill the needs of scholars and the public for historical archives, exhibits, and programs. The Society will work in cooperation with other historical societies toward these ends.
