USF JAZZ LAB BAND

The program will include a performance of James Lewis' Hear Me Talkin' To Ya, for jazz singer, jazz band, and prerecorded tape. The textual material comes from the history of jazz as told by famous jazz musicians found in the book Hear Me Talkin' To Ya. Annetta Monroe, soloist, and the band move through a variety of jazz styles, old and new, as if in search of a definition of jazz. The jazz singer and members of the band improvise and enter into a vocal and instrumental dialogue with the prerecorded tape. The composition of Hear Me Talkin' To Ya was made possible by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts to U.S.F. Assistant Professor of Music James Lewis.

Also on the program will be a set of songs by Hilton Jones. Soloists Annetta Monroe (lead vocals) and Art Woodbury (lead horn), with members of the University Jazz Lab Band, the Symphony Orchestra and the Electronic Arts Ensemble, will perform these works. The compositions are typified by a fusion of classical avant-garde techniques, jazz and rock.

DRAGON HELM is an adventure fantasy featuring several kinds of puppets: the "super puppet," a fire-breathing dragon with three heads and 20 feet; humanettes (people in puppet bodies); marionettes; hand puppets; and hand-and-rod puppets.

Inspired by Lewis Carroll's story, "P. Jabberwocky," DRAGON HELM is the tale of a boy who goes "a-dragoning" to prove his manhood and to experience adventure before returning to his humdrum existence. His adventures are filled with a multi-personality, three-headed dragon, with a Blue Duck of Happiness called "Jonathan Livingston Duck" and an army of Vipers and an Army of Bird Judith Kase, a specialist in children theatre and USF faculty member, directed this original production.

FROM THE LIBRARY

The St. Petersburg Campus library is cooperating with the library on the main campus with respect to the paper shortage. All circulation check-out cards are used, after the books are returned, in place of p-slips to fill the memo boxes at the card catalog and other places, scratch cards for note taking, memos for internal library use, etc.

Reserve lists and bibliographies using only one side of the paper are also saved and used as scratch paper.

The only items which we cannot seem to use "sparingly" are pencils and pens. These disappear at an alarming rate, and we will appreciate any information as to how we can combat this waste.

It's nice to see so many new faces browsing around in the library. We invite some of the "old" ones to come and see how much we have grown lately.

THANKS...

From Dr. W. Fred Totten
Dr. Lawrence Stewart

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all students and staff members who assisted with the May 3rd Conference on Community Education. We appreciate the support, encouragement and participation of Dean Tuttle.

The conference with a registration of 186 persons was considered to be highly successful. Much of the success is due to the excellent help of a number of students and former students. Judy Bataille and members of FSEA are due a special vote of thanks for their good help.

We are especially grateful to Suday and to staff members of the Student Activities Office.

We wish to say, "thanks a million," to all the secretaries who worked so diligently to prepare and disseminate the many letters outlines, schedules, etc.

The maintenance staff and security staff were great. Everything was handled in careful detail and with dispatch.

A special vote of thanks goes to Bob Thrush for taking care of needs in the audio-visual area.

The fine support of the University's Business Office was also greatly appreciated.
