Student Government in Action

By Marty Tschiderer Crow's Nest Editor

Judy Isaakson and Judy Gabriel can count on spending a few less bucks on books next semester.

The two USF St. Petersburg students have been chosen to receive the Student Government Book Scholarship Award for the spring semester.

"We reviewed the applications of each candidate," said Jay Couture, Chairperson of the SG Book Scholarship Committee. "And it came out unanimous." Each student will receive a check for $100 to use toward the purchase of text books.

Isaakson, an English major, is expected to begin her graduate program in the summer, focusing on literature. Upon completion of a Master's degree, she hopes to teach at a junior or community college and continue on toward her doctorate.

In addition to her studies, Isaakson works for a local ophthalmologist and is the mother of an 8-year-old girl. She also is a member of the school board at her daughter's elementary school. The board oversees the financial budget, staff employment and the accreditation process as well as many minor educational aspects.

Gabriel, an Elementary Education major, is currently participating in her third internship at a local elementary school. She attributes her interest in teaching to positive influences she received from her own teachers when she attended elementary school in Queens, N.Y.

She is the mother of a 4-year-old daughter, and enjoys participating in church activities and attending local events. One of her long-term goals is to adopt a child.

Student Government will offer another $100 Book Scholarship in the fall.

Congratulations to the new officers and representatives of Student Government. They will begin their term May 1.
