There is still time for creative artists to participate in our survey. We need your voice!

Four years ago we conducted an Arts & Cultural Survey and produced an Arts Economic Impact Report that demonstrated the value of our non-profit arts organizations to our City. We were able to show that the arts are the fifth largest economic engine in Pinellas County. Our report is located here.

With support from Bank of America, we are able to again survey and publish our results, and we ask that our St. Petersburg artists and creative businesses participate. All information is aggregated for the report. We do not publish any individual’s information. We expect that together we will show an increase in the value that our arts and cultural community brings to our City of the Arts. (Non-profits will receive a separate survey.)

The survey is only ten quick questions. Please take a moment to fill it out and help us demonstrate that the arts and cultural community provides a significant return on investment as it contributes to a vibrant, energized City that people want to visit, live, work and play.

Thank you!
