USF's Sharman McRae Wins National Award

TAMPA-Sharman McRae, an advisor for Project Thrust at the University of South Florida, has been named a recipient of the National Outstanding Student Advising Award by the National Academic Advising Association. McRae was one of six advisors selected to receive the award, which honors counselors for their dedication and professionalism.

Sharman McRae always be needed as we always need confidants. As an advisor, McRae matches education majors with a mentor in the school system, consults with students and monitors their progress. It is through education that the school system becomes a good teacher with someone in the field.

Help Create The Cards That Create Jobs

ST. PETERSBURG—Volunteers can enjoy the holiday spirit in your friends while helping to provide skills and training opportunities to others who are challenged. Goodwill Industries Suncoast’s Giving Group is looking for a select group of people to help with a special holiday card-giving project. The project is in progress now with the production of winter holiday cards. Throughout the year, volunteers are needed to help cut, paste, and fold general purpose greeting cards, thank you notes and book-plates. Proceeds from the sale of these cards go to Goodwill’s Adult Day Training program for further opportunities for self-sufficiency for people with disabilities.

For more information about joining Goodwill’s Giving Group call Jeanie Blue, Volunteer Coordinator, at (813) 673-1052, ext. 221.

City Officials Study Curfew Ordinance

City Officials Study Curfew Ordinance

ST. PETERSBURG—While police are still gathering data on the effects of curfew laws in other cities, critics met with proponents of the ordinance and city officials at Brook Davis Center on November 1st, and expressed opposition to curfew laws, as some see it as a violation of civil and human rights and some are concerned about youth not going home, but to other youth places once they’re home off the streets.

“We don’t have a position on the curfew law yet, we’re going to gather information on the issue and doing research on how the program is working in other communities,” Ambast Chief Rich Jones noted.

Proponents of the ordinance argue that something must be done about kids running the streets until 1 or 2 a.m., and causing problems to what is left to come out of their homes. They also noted that unwarranted plea for economic development and moral encouragement activities in the neighborhood prompted them to propose a curfew ordnance for the entire city. According to Kevin Johnson, president of the Palmetto Area Neighborhood Association, historically this neighborhood has had poor city services, but a viable drug industry.

“The history of the neighborhood is that it’s heavily stained with drugs and because of this, some neighborhoods have become virtual hogwashes in their homes,” Johnson stated. “More and more kids have become virtual hostages in their homes.”

Several citizens suggest that a curfew will not bring better city services or economic development to the area, but with selective enforcement, will only serve to violate the civil and human rights of certain citizens.

Grace Harris, the mother of a twelve-year-old son, teaches her child at home and thinks that a curfew would do even more harm to society than good.

“A curfew law is an act of Marshall Law,” said Harris. “Police will become babysitters instead of being crime fighters.”

Many attending the meeting agreed that instituting a curfew for youngsters should be a parent’s responsibility, and some suggest if the legislature does not do the job, then the parents will feel empowered to impose such forms of discipline.

If You’re Not Seeing Eye To Eye With Your Current Bank . . .

If You’re Not Seeing Eye To Eye With Your Current Bank . . .

...Take A Good Look At Barnett Bank.

That’s what Dr. Deborah Flanagan prescribes for people looking to revitalize their own business.

“I worked for a national eyewear chain, but had always preferred the more personal atmosphere that private practice offered. I knew a number of banks, but no one would lend me enough money to open the kind of office that would offer my patients the high quality of care I wanted to provide.”

That’s when she went to Barnett Bank. Instead of just saying “No,” they found a way to make her dream come true.

Barnett chartered the Tampa Bay Black Business Investment Corporation, who helped guarantee her loan. Thanks to Barnett Bank and the SBA, I was able to open my practice because I can offer my patients the latest technology with the convenience of a local right on the premises.”

Dr. Deborah Flanagan, O.D., P.A.

The city's neighborhoods and local operations rolled up their shirt sleeves, climbed ladders, and painted 50 homes in St. Petersburg. This is a program about neighbors helping neighbors who can't help themselves. It's about community spirit and community pride.

Since the program began in 1990, 390 homes have been painted. The City of St. Petersburg and a committee of community volunteers organize the effort. They solicit donations of paint and supplies. It requires about 13 gallons of paint for each house, and local hardware stores and paint manufacturers donated enough paint to complete 42 houses. The remaining paint was purchased through cash donations.

Then, the city finds houses to paint. Through social service agencies, city code investigators and posters displayed in store windows, the city finds homes that need painting where the owners can't financially or physically paint the houses themselves.

Fifty paint teams were assembled with volunteers from the community. Each team was led by a volunteer captain and paired with a professional painter who supervises the group and lends their professional expertise. The professional paintings prepped the houses prior to paint day. Then, on Saturday, the volunteers went to work at 7:30 a.m. By 2 p.m., 50 homes in St. Pete sparkled with fresh coats of paint. After the work was through, volunteers enjoyed a complimentary barbecue dinner at the Coliseum Ballroom.

This year, 33 of the houses painted were south of Central Avenue and 21 of them were located in the Challenge 2001 area. Mayor Fischer had a chance to drop in on 11 of the paint sites, and was impressed by the enthusiasm and hard work displayed by each team.

The city wishes to thank all of the volunteers and the event's major sponsors - Barnett Bank of Pinellas County and the University of South Florida at St. Petersburg. Remember to put next year's event on your calendar - October 24, 1998.

Jimmie Baker of Apopka

Who Is Fooling Who?

Once upon a time, a woman was buying a dress. The shopkeeper said, "This dress will make you look thinner." The customer replied, "That's not what I want. I want a dress that makes me look pretty!"

Jimmie Baker, a Florida Lottery retailer, and women of Baker's General Store situated in Apopka (near Orlando), began selling Florida Lottery scratch off tickets in 1990. Luxery Citizen, a regular customer, has been a winner in every Florida Lottery game, except Lotto.

Autumn Signals Brighter Days For FL Drivers

Tallahassee--As of Oct. 1, a new law is on the books that could make all Florida motorists to own their vehicle's transponder or face heavier fines and penalties.

And, beginning Nov. 1, the two more than 2 million Florida motorists who fail to register their cars will face daily fines.

The state of Florida will start mailing warnings or crude angry letters encouraging 500,000 of their auto insurance companies.

State Farm, Florida's largest auto insurer, paid less than 50 cents on the dollar for the past three years.

The mutual company will start mailing the notices to its customers when their policies go to its next renewal.

most of which they then sell in the open market.

In addition to the transponder warning, State Farm will mail a notice to its customers when their policies go to the next renewal.

National NAACP President

Mfume's lecture was $29.95

He emphasized the urgency of making #3

In 1909, Mfume introduced Mr. Frank Lebowitz to the audience.

His book, "The Speech That Made Me," was a testament to the coined concept of street gang member, "but where we start out in life, but where we end up..." said Mfume.

The hypocrisy of the signing of the Declaration of Independence through the abolition of slavery, the so-called "self-evident, that all men are created equal..." After 89 years, he was still in business with youth membership and involvement as its top priority. Currently, there are 105 youth councils across the US with a projected 100 more in 18 months; "Sing for the Souls" campaign is targeted at 15-25 year olds, from prison minimum to real...scape campus recruits.

Mfume's tenure with the NAACP has thus far resulted in 137 trips in 18 months but he is not the last generation. Mfume stated that he is privileged to call Lebowitz a friend and he would have loved more "Lebowitz" the essence to carry on the NAACP's mission. The NAACP has an agenda, and its top priority. Currently, the NAACP is still in abundance in this country historically and still in abundance in this country historically and still in abundance in this country historically.

ULP's Vice President of Student Affairs, Dr. Harold Wilson, introduced Mfume as one of the most influential African Americans in the United States today. Mfume made no time passing the audience at time, while he discussed the "violence" of reading the "new" NAACP into the 21st century. The man himself is a testament to the coined art of "Tolerance has now become until you are affected by these issues or...will you Holler out, "Jesus Christ!!" first and call it the NAACP next? "The NAACP doesn't allow others to define us, they are in a place for the first time."

The Network of Champions

GEORGE FOREMAN vs. SHANNON BRIGGS & DAVID REID vs. NICK RUPA

NEW YORK — One of boxing's most remarkable figures continues his unrelenting career when World Championship Boxing, George Foreman vs. Shannon Briggs and David Reid vs. Nick Rupa, is presented live Saturday, November 22 (10pm ET/9pm CT/8pm MT/7pm PT) from the Donald W. Reynolds-Meadow Event Center in Louisville, KY.

"Leg strength keeps you going," says Jackson. "With extensive training, hard work and a little time, you can become the next great fighter."

To produce some exciting fights, HBO Sports has signed a multi-year deal with the legendary boxing franchise and introduced 'Prince' Naseem Hamed to the HBO platform. Naseem Hamed, known for his speed, power and his ability to rise through the ranks, has established himself as one of the sport's most promising featherweight prospects. His recent victory over Jose Badillo in his most recent title defense in the seventh round at the Sheffield Arena was a testament to his incredible skills and determination.

HBO Sports is committed to presenting the best prizefights and prizefighters on television, and with the addition of Naseem Hamed to the HBO stable, the network continues to establish itself as the premier destination for world-class boxing.

Harlem Globetrotters Exhibition Game

LAKE BUENA VISTA — The Harlem Globetrotters played an exhibition game at Disney's Wide World of Sports complex closing their month-long annual training camp at the start of the championship and setting the stage for a special Christmas Holiday series of games at Disney this December.

"We've signed some exciting new talent as we prepare for more international play over the next two months, as well as the Holiday series here at Disney in December. And the beginning of our domestic tour in January." — Chairman Mannie Jackson. The Globetrotters special Christmas Holiday series of games at Disney's Wide World of Sports complex will feature games on December 11, 13, 14, 22, 23, 26 and 27. Each year the Harlem Globetrotters play some 250 games in 20 countries before upwards of two million fans around the globe.

In 1994, "Q" ratings determined the Harlem Globetrotters as the most 'liked' and 'recognized' sporting team in the United States. The Globetrotters have performed before more than 1 million fans in 214 countries during their 70-plus-year history.

U.S. Army Offers “Take Charge” Program

ST. PETERSBURG—Army officials in St. Petersburg have launched a four-month recruitment program designed to help high school students take control of their educational and career goals by staying in school, staying off drugs and planning for the future.

According to Sgt. 1st Class Morgan Segarra, station commander of the St. Petersburg Recruiting Station, the new program, which is entitled TAKE CHARGE, will be offered to more than 22,000 high school students around the country.

In an environment re­markably similar to the Peanuts, Mr. & Mrs. Peanuts are abolished, the reporter, Educational Consultant, spoke of the merits of the TAKE CHARGE program brings to high schools as well as to individual students in need of such support.

“The success and effectiveness of the Army and the entire Department of Defense is linked to the education of today’s youth. The TAKE CHARGE program’s focus is on staying in school and staying off drugs, continues a long-time part­nership with education that is essential to our national interests,” Hamilton said.

The U.S. Army continu­ously encourages youth to stay in school, stay off drugs, and plan for the future. For the first time, the Army Recruiting Command’s TAKE CHARGE program em­braces the missions from the 1990 Days in School-Drop­off Drug program with the Planning-for-Life program.

In addition to encouraging students to stay in school, TAKE CHARGE offers support materials, such as a motiva­tional film featuring Dan O’Brian, 1996 Olympic Decathlon Gold Medalist. Planning-for-Life, which began in 1996, encourages schools to implement and maintain current planning programs and recognition for exceptional work in this area.

For more information about the TAKE CHARGE program, contact Sgt. 1st Class Scotty Sudduth, U.S. Army Recruiting Station, 1907 Tyrone Blvd., (813) 401-5430.

I am a victim of brain damage, and I definitely have a claim. I want to know more about my legal rights.

I was in an accident on Nov. 8, 1997, on my left hand.

The driver who hit me was not at fault. I have been told that I am entitled to receive compensation for my injuries.

I would like to get in touch with a legal expert who can help me understand my rights.
